PREFACE

In March 1985, 27 people met to form the Grassland Society of NSW. These founders were conscious of the need to conserve and develop our grasslands. It is probably one of Australia's most priceless assets in today's economic climate.

From these small beginnings the Society first held a seminar and field day at Orange in October, 1985 attended by approximately 100 people.

Only 16 months after the inception of the Society and on the eve of our first Annual Conference, the membership number is approaching 250. It is most gratifying to also know that the number of conference bookings shows support for the concepts of the Society.

Your committee have put together a most comprehensive and widely divergent programme for this conference. It is our hope that we will continue to gather strength and the conference will be a most rewarding and enjoyable experience for all who attend.
